If it were up to Meat Locker, the folks at Ford might be spending their gift check from the Stimulus Fairy on re-engineering the climate control equipment on board their fleet vehicle selections. Some people are just never comfortable you know.....just ask Meat Locker. This guy is so cold, he has to de-ice before he can brush his teeth. And when his teeth aren't chattering, his breath is colder than a fart inside a dead Eskimo. His favorite cartoon villain character.....you got it...Mr. Freeze (Batman). And how about his favorite Clint Eastwood flick.....yep.....Cool Hand Luke. He's even got a rear-engineered freeze plug.....but for shivering sakes.....please don't ask to see it. After he's had a few frosties today, just ask him about some of his favorite cold company colleagues.....he'll let you know who really "frosts" him.
